Current New UZONE Ritual Ritual The current ritual does not The UZONE ritual enables the stumotivate students to participate in dent to self evaluate, document their own progress. his/her work and track long term It provides no tools or activiites progress. for them to be engaged in their development. UZONE is the student's own space. january set goals set goals engagement engagement motivation motivation anxiety anxiety Student and mentor Student and mentor set student goals set student goals in around the table. the UZONE. keeping track of goals and keeping track of goals and development development engagement engagement motivation motivation anxiety anxiety ?., Mentor stores student goals in the Every week students upload images form of documents in a binder. of their work to UZONE. Student has no access. Mentor gives a copy of the Student, teacher, parent and Judgement (Omdome) to the mentor can access goals, student and invites parents

grades and study plans at any point during the term, remotely or inside UZONE.

for Development Talk

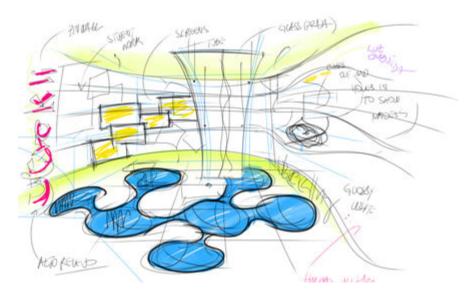

(Utvecklingssamtal).

Contract of the second

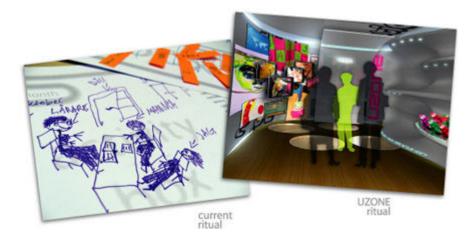

A New Ritual: A New Environment to Support the Ritual

Lo-fi prototype of the environment.

One sketch of the UZONE: new student development visualization room and a place for discussion of future goals and past and present pupil work.

The old Utvecklingsamtal (Development Meeting) drawn by a student for the Chance and Challenge workshop and an example of a possible layout for the new environment that would hold the "ritual".

Fabricio Dore is an Interaction Designer with background in Industrial Design.

He has experience in different fields of design including products, games, environments, communication, consumer electronics, retail spaces, interior design, packaging, automotive interaction, industrial furniture and social software.

Fabricio was trained on the Scandinavian tradition of empathic and human centered design and has experience in ethnography and participatory design.

Fabricio speaks Portuguese and English fluently. He currently lives in Munich, Germany, and works for IDEO. He previously lived in Umeå, Sweden; San Francisco and Chicago, USA.

Reprinted from Resistanceisfutile.eu